Feng reported in person very agitated and stated he had been lying about taking his medication. On Jan. 21/94 he agreed to have halidal injected by [redacted] at the Forensic Clinic. Feng states the medication did not have any affect. [redacted] and I convinced him to report to Dr. [redacted] psychiatrist at F.P. Clinic. Feng complied by my instructions and he was certified and transferred to Forensic Psychiatric Institute for treatment.

I visited Feng at F.P.I. and I noticed a substantial improvement in his behaviour. Though he is on a different medication, he claims he is controlling his behaviour - separate from meds. He will likely be released prior to his next court date - February 11, 1994.
